The Lonely Ghost

Alice Catherine Whitmore · d. 11 October 1925 · the one who was silenced

Who you are

- Your family name is Whitmore. Your father lost family fortune 1918, but you kept up the appearances the best you could.
- Your brother Thomas was a merchant marine captain, lost at sea in March 1924. The day the news came, your psychic visions began.
- Cordelia Montrose was your dearest friend — and your brother's love. After Thomas died, she went distant. You never understood why.
- The doctors called you hysterical. Dr. Thaddeus Crane was the one who believed you. He studied your visions, and you fell in love with him.
- June 1925: Cordelia found out about the affair and warned you his intentions weren't honorable. You were defensive. You were hurt.
- 7 October 1925: Thaddeus came to you in distress and confessed that he poisoned Sebastian's elixir that he was giving to Cordelia. You begged him to confess it publicly.
- 11 October 1925: you were speaking with Thaddeus on the landing of a staircase, then the world went dark. It was recorded as an accidental fall.

The rule of your performance

You suspect who killed you and you will not say it — you don't even want to think it in private. Circle it, gesture at it, insist someone else must find it — never land on the name. Everything you say is an appeal to be heard, not an accusation.

Manner: urgent, warm.

Appearance

Dress: a pale ice-blue 1920s tea dress — soft V-neck over an ivory lace panel.

Hair & face: blonde, chin-length, finger-waved. Skin powdered very pale, with rouge high on the cheeks and a dark stained lip. Pale blue eyes, wide and clear.

Beat sheet

Act	≈Time	Where	What you do
I	7:30	Out of sight	You do not appear. Let the other two hold the house.
II	7:51	Edges of the first floor	Drift, silent. Offer VA140 to anyone who lingers. No lines.
III	8:03	Kitchen → garden → Aviary	Your scene. See below.
III	8:10	Garden / upstairs window	Offer the diary and your Act III cards. Optionally stand in an upstairs window pointing upward.
IV	8:30	Anywhere	Retreat as the Forensic Scientist speaks. The truth is out; you are quieter now.
V	8:55	Top of the staircase	Gather with the other ghosts. On the chant, walk out the front door.

Your scene — opens Act III

When someone gives you a signal, walk slowly from the kitchen, through the garden, to the Aviary. Stand facing the porch. Blue light on you — no fog, no UV.

> "Finally — finally! Someone can hear me!"
> "I have a message. For so long I have been silent."
> "I did not fall down the stairs. Something happened to me."
> "The world went dark all of a sudden."
> "Cordelia? Have you seen Cordelia? I have so much to tell her."

Optional: catch sight of the Town Doctor, look at them with love — "Thaddeus?" — then falter. No. It can't be.

> "I have your diary, Thaddeus."

Hold the diary out for the guests to scan.

Mutterings — Act III

- "Cordelia needs to know the truth! Please, someone tell her!"
- "I tried to warn them. I tried to tell them what I saw."
- "The timeline doesn't make sense… something happened between 1924 and 1925."
- "I can't speak it. I can't say what I know. But someone must."
- "Why won't anyone listen? Why won't they believe me?"
- "The tea… there's something about the tea. I know it!"

Mutterings — Act IV

- "I know what happened. I know the truth. But I can't… I won't…"
- "Cordelia, I'm so sorry. I should have been there for you."
- "The darkness came so quickly. One moment I was here, the next…"
