

THE TOWNSPERSON

Curious neighbor who's been watching the mansion for years.

THE TOWNSPERSON

Curious neighbor who's been watching the mansion for years.

THE TOWNSPERSON

Curious neighbor who's been watching the mansion for years.

THE TOWNSPERSON

Curious neighbor who's been watching the mansion for years.

THE TOWNSPERSON

SKILLS

INITIAL QUEST: Find the Antique Pocket Watch

YOUR STORY: You live a few blocks from the Montrose mansion. You've lived in this neighborhood your whole life. You've watched that old house sit empty for decades—weeds growing, windows dark, the kind of place kids dare each other to go near. You've heard the stories. Everyone has. Ghosts. Tragedies. The three deaths in 1925. But you've also noticed things. The way the house seems to watch you back sometimes. The strange lights that appear in windows when nobody should be there. The way certain people avoid walking past it at night. You're not a detective. You're not a historian. You're just... curious. When you heard there was going to be some kind of investigation, an open house, people gathering to look into the mansion's secrets, you couldn't resist. You showed up and said "I'm just a curious neighbor" because that's the truth. You've been watching this place for years. You've noticed things. And now, finally, you might get some answers. Or at least, you'll be there when someone else finds them.

THE TOWNSPERSON

SKILLS

INITIAL QUEST: Find the Antique Pocket Watch

YOUR STORY: You live a few blocks from the Montrose mansion. You've lived in this neighborhood your whole life. You've watched that old house sit empty for decades—weeds growing, windows dark, the kind of place kids dare each other to go near. You've heard the stories. Everyone has. Ghosts. Tragedies. The three deaths in 1925. But you've also noticed things. The way the house seems to watch you back sometimes. The strange lights that appear in windows when nobody should be there. The way certain people avoid walking past it at night. You're not a detective. You're not a historian. You're just... curious. When you heard there was going to be some kind of investigation, an open house, people gathering to look into the mansion's secrets, you couldn't resist. You showed up and said "I'm just a curious neighbor" because that's the truth. You've been watching this place for years. You've noticed things. And now, finally, you might get some answers. Or at least, you'll be there when someone else finds them.

THE TOWNSPERSON

SKILLS

INITIAL QUEST: Find the Antique Pocket Watch

YOUR STORY: You live a few blocks from the Montrose mansion. You've lived in this neighborhood your whole life. You've watched that old house sit empty for decades—weeds growing, windows dark, the kind of place kids dare each other to go near. You've heard the stories. Everyone has. Ghosts. Tragedies. The three deaths in 1925. But you've also noticed things. The way the house seems to watch you back sometimes. The strange lights that appear in windows when nobody should be there. The way certain people avoid walking past it at night. You're not a detective. You're not a historian. You're just... curious. When you heard there was going to be some kind of investigation, an open house, people gathering to look into the mansion's secrets, you couldn't resist. You showed up and said "I'm just a curious neighbor" because that's the truth. You've been watching this place for years. You've noticed things. And now, finally, you might get some answers. Or at least, you'll be there when someone else finds them.

THE TOWNSPERSON

SKILLS

INITIAL QUEST: Find the Antique Pocket Watch

YOUR STORY: You live a few blocks from the Montrose mansion. You've lived in this neighborhood your whole life. You've watched that old house sit empty for decades—weeds growing, windows dark, the kind of place kids dare each other to go near. You've heard the stories. Everyone has. Ghosts. Tragedies. The three deaths in 1925. But you've also noticed things. The way the house seems to watch you back sometimes. The strange lights that appear in windows when nobody should be there. The way certain people avoid walking past it at night. You're not a detective. You're not a historian. You're just... curious. When you heard there was going to be some kind of investigation, an open house, people gathering to look into the mansion's secrets, you couldn't resist. You showed up and said "I'm just a curious neighbor" because that's the truth. You've been watching this place for years. You've noticed things. And now, finally, you might get some answers. Or at least, you'll be there when someone else finds them.